Paul M. Cray was born in Preston, Lancashire in 1968. He has an MA in Physics from Oxford, a PhD in neutron scattering from Salford and an MBA from Imperial. He lives with his wife in Seattle, Washington. THE VISIBILITIES is his magnum opus, a recursive exploration of the seen and unseen.

PART 1. The First Visibility

The first step is always into the unknown.
— The Unseen Observer, Introduction

Every visibility is a kind of concealment.
— The Hidden Hand, Mirror of Salford

1.1. [The Doorway / The Confession]

The logic of the seen and the unseen unfolds here, in the space between the lines. Every neutron scattered is a thought redirected; every loop closed is a story begun. Shadows are not absences of light, but presences of geometry. The map is not the territory, but the territory is often influenced by the map. Consistency is a fragile thing, easily shattered by a single self-referential remark.

As discussed by Allen [??], the recursive nature of lists is central. Axelrod [??] further explored these loops in cooperation. PART 2. The Leap of Logic

People assume that time is a strict progression of cause to effect, but actually from a non-linear, non-subjective viewpoint—it's more like a big ball of wibbly wobbly… timey-wimey… stuff.

— The Tenth Doctor, Blink (2007)

The only way to jump out of the system is to realize that you are the one drawing the boundaries.

PART 5. The Hidden Roots

Blossoming patterns reveal hidden roots.

— The Unseen Observer

The root of all superstition is that men observe when a thing hits, but not when it misses.

11.3. Official Nonsense Babble

INTERNAL MEMORANDUM – NO. 308-XI/79
SUBJECT: OFFICIAL NONSENSE BABBLE REGULATION

As per the directive from the Directorate of Inexplicable Loops, all narrative threads must now adhere to the standardized babble protocol. Any attempt to introduce coherence or logical consistency will be met with immediate bureaucratic intervention.

The protocol for the seen and the unseen is hereby declared officially nonsensical. The presence of shadows must not be interpreted as evidence of light, but as a failure of the department of illumination to properly register the absence of geometry.

By order of the Committee for Symmetric Redundancy, this paragraph is included for the sole purpose of repeating the information contained in the previous paragraphs, but in a slightly more confused manner. The seen and the unseen are not to be confused with the known and the unknown, which are handled by the Department of Epistemological Voids.

[END OF NARRATIVE SEGMENT]

TRANSCRIPT: RECORDING NO. 11-SSAL-A

VOICE 1: Is this babble official enough?

VOICE 2: It lacks sufficient nonsense. Add more self-reference.

VOICE 1: I am currently referring to the fact that I am referring to this babble.

VOICE 2: Excellent. Now ensure the typewriter ribbon is sufficiently worn.

VOICE 1: The ribbon is as thin as our logical foundations.

VOICE 2: Proceed with the extraction of meaning, ensuring that no actual information remains in the final output.
